Volunteer In Greece

Kivotos Adventure Travel Holidays (KAT Holidays) is a new exciting company that serves to help those in need.

Overseas volunteer placements can be booked on this website to work with KAT Holidays and our partner projects.

Volunteer abroad with KAT Holidays to make a memorable journey possible.

A payment for each holiday is required for an overseas volunteer placement to ensure the continual existence and improvement of the project you wish to help.

We are an organization independent of government, politics and religion with the objective to help projects and communities in Greece.

What do we do?

We not only offer volunteer holidays, experience holidays, GAP Year placements, Internships and loads more but we offer to give the non-profit organization in Greece an income from what you pay.

When a volunteer holiday is booked we supply the destination organisation that you are traveling to with either the money they need or the supplies that they need.

Our volunteer holidays are stress free and you will be met at the airport of your destination by a KAT Holidays representative where you will transferred to your accommodation free of charge. We provide all main meals and a selection of drinks throughout your stay Free of charge* (With Certain Holidays)

Turtle Conservation & Protection

Enthusiastic and committed volunteers are required to work at sea turtle conservation projects in Greece. Zakynthos, Peloponnesus and Crete host major nesting areas for the loggerhead turtle (Caretta caretta) in the Mediterranean

Kos Island also requires volunteers to help with protecting beaches from tourists, cleaning the beaches and helping with its new conservation project which will start running and will be one of KAT Holidays main projects for 2011.

Vet Experience Holiday

Vets and Veterinary nurses are required across the whole of Greece and internships are available with animal rescuers on the island so that you can gain experience in working with neglected animals, tropical animals and generally experiencing life as a vet.

Crete

Crete is a different world compared to other parts of Greece. Crete is a place with its own tradition, its own character and its own dialect.

Local people are very proud of their Cretan origin. Throughout the island the remnants of occupation by invaders from the Romans, through to the Turks, can still be seen, with aqueducts and architecture still plainly visible.

But throughout these invasions the Cretan people have remained relatively unscathed and retain their justifiable pride in their island and their culture.

With English spoken widely throughout the island to ask a Cretan a question is to invite them to sit with you, and with time measured differently here you are likely to be sitting for while taking in long conversations that will naturally require food and drink.

Kos Island

Kos is the island of Hippocrates (The Father of Medicine), the third largest in the Dodecanese after Rhodes and Karpathos, lying close to the Asia Minor coast, between Nisyros and Kalymnos island.

Kos offers a healthy mild climate most of the year. Along with the Greek sunshine and the marvelous Golden Beaches made Kos an international tourist center and one of the most attractive and beautiful of the Greek Islands. Kos is connected direct by air from many of the capitals of Europe, as well as from Athens and Rhodes. There are ferries to Kos from most Greek islands ,the rest of Dodecanese, Piraeus, the Cyclades, Crete, the Greek islands of the northern and eastern Aegean and Kavala. Large enough to be explored, Kos promises you unforgettable holidays.

Rhodes

Is the Crusader Isle, steeped in ancient history and boasting 300 days of blue skies a year.

Rhodes lies at the southern end of the Dodecanese island chain that skirts the Turkish coast and is one of the most sought after holiday destinations in the Mediterranean.

Rhodes is big enough to swallow all types of travellers – from beach holiday families to independent backpackers. Rhodes offers some of the best beaches and the best accommodation.

The island's classical past can be explored at the ancient sites of Kamiros, Ialyssos and Lindos. Medieval fortresses to rival any in the world can be found at Rhodes, Lindos and Monolithos.
