Intern In Barcelona

Barcelona, the capital of Catalonia and Spain's second biggest city, is a rich, prosperous and cosmopolitan place. Elegant, refined, full of life, and with its own special charm and fascinating areas, Barcelona attracts people from all around the world. The weather is typically Mediterranean, with hot summers and mild winters and an average annual temperature of 60° F.

From the narrow streets of the Old Town, the wide avenues of the newer areas, and the Villa Olímpica, to the shops and the hospitality of the people, Barcelona always makes a lasting impression on its visitors. It has been said that Barcelona combines "the best of the north with the best of the south."
