Course preferences at LSE

See the General Course website at www.lse.ac.uk/general-course

List six courses from the website, showing codes and titles. Add an asterisk* to any which would be essential for you. Unless you have declared your major sometime ago and have a very strong background in the subject, it is unwise to take more than one 300 level course.

We cannot guarantee that all the courses listed in 2010-11 will be available in 2011-12 – but the great majority will be. You will make your final choice (of four year-long courses) after you arrive and will not be confined to these initial suggestions.

Declaration of Criminal Conviction

To help LSE reduce the risk of harm or injury to our students caused by the criminal behaviour of other students, we must know about any relevant criminal convictions that an applicant has. Relevant criminal convictions are only those convictions for offences against the person, whether of a violent or a sexual nature, and convictions for offences involving unlawfully supplying controlled drugs or substances where the conviction concerns commercial drug dealing or trafficking. Convictions that are spent (as defined by the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974) are not considered to be relevant and you should not reveal them. For further information about this subject see www.lse.ac.uk/collections/graduateAdmissions/criminalconvictions.htm

Have you had a criminal conviction? Yes  No

Personal statement

In approximately 500 words please describe your special academic interests and your unique purpose and objectives in undertaking the General Course. Your academic background, strengths and subject interests at LSE are of particular relevance to the selector. Attach extra sheets if necessary.

On completion, this form should be accompanied by:

- the confidential reports of the two referees whose names you have given above;
- an up-to-date transcript or record of academic progress, including work completed in the first semester of your second year of university study;
- an explanation of the grading scale used.

All the above must be provided in English.
